

to jeff bezos, the man acting as CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER of and for AMAZON.

i do apologize for any inconvenience, but i must require that you prove i am obligated to pay for things i order from AMAZON because it appears to me to be a false claim.

you claim, through your agents, that you are absolutely certain i am obligated to pay for the things i order from AMAZON.

i do not believe you can prove that i am obligated to pay for the things i order from AMAZON.

i can not find any positive proof of verified facts of unambiguous evidence that i am obligated to pay for things i order from AMAZON and i believe no such facts of evidence exist.

do you possess any positive proof of verified facts of unambiguous evidence that i am obligated to pay for the things i order from AMAZON?

i only seek the truth.

silence is acquiescence, agreement, dishonor and estoppel.

failure to respond is fatal. he who does not deny, admits.

you have thirty days to respond with positive proof of verified facts of unambiguous evidence that i am obligated to pay for the things i order from AMAZON.

if you are unwilling or unable to produce any positive proof of verified facts of unambiguous evidence that i am obligate to pay for the things i order from AMAZON then it would be fraud for you to, henceforth, knowingly and willfully obligate me to pay for the things i order from AMAZON.

is that fair jess bezos?

prove your claim or concede your claim is false and accept full liability?

regards,

ambassador of god: master.
